Occ health software for everything from routine to revolutionary

FIND OUT HOW

Pharmaceutical companies striving to deliver scientific breakthroughs depend on keeping employees healthy, compliant and on the job. Your workforce is spread across multiple locations — maybe even geographies — and works in a wide variety of environments. You need a comprehensive health IT solution that reduces compliance vulnerabilities and simplifies the way you document and manage the health of your entire employee population.

Essential tools and functionality to support employees who work in an office, manufacturing facility or lab setting.

Enterprise Health is the only comprehensive occupational health management software solution that combines occupational health, compliance and employee engagement and is built on a certified EHR platform. It delivers the tools and information you need to engage employees, track health surveillance exams, document and report on worksite illness and injuries, manage mass immunization programs and so much more.

Built for large organizations

Enterprise Health is built to provide employers in the pharmaceutical industry with the functionality required to contain healthcare costs, engage employees and analyze essential performance data.

Trusted by leading pharmaceutical companies

Some of the most prestigious corporations in the industry use Enterprise Health as their employee health solution to streamline medical surveillance, worksite injury and illness, regulatory compliance, and the provision of urgent and primary care services.

Streamlines processes across the organization

Enterprise Health is incredibly interoperable so that one engine can interact with corporate HR and email applications, medical devices, laboratories, insurance carriers, external providers and other data sources. Plus, to improve efficiency even further, the solution supports single sign-on from the enterprise environment.

Built on an ONC-ACB Certified EHR

Unlike other occ health solutions, Enterprise Health is built on an ONC-ACB Certified EHR platform giving you the functionality to expand your onsite clinic operations to include primary care, urgent care, chronic disease management and health and wellness services.
